Trail Report

January 27, 2010

The trails are closed to all uses.

The trails are closed to all uses. The trails will remain closed to all uses until we receive more snow. 52 degrees and rain on Jan. 25. caused significant melting on some trails and significant ice to form on most trails. Cold temperatures are forecast today through January 31, with only a slight chance of snow showers during that time. We plan to reopen the skiing when snow conditions allow. Please check back for an updated report before traveling to use the Northfield Mountain trails.

Think Snow! The trails and ski shop will be closed until we receive more snow.
